Kuala Lumpur
25th & 26th July 2011

2nd Annual Affordable Housing Projects
25 – 26 July 2011
Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

Presently there is a huge unmet need for good-quality, low-cost housing in urban areas for low income households. According to a report by ADB, there are currently more than 1 billion people worldwide who live in inadequate housing, the majority in urban slums and squatter settlements.

Much of the increasing urbanisation will take place in developing countries and will be focused on Asia and Africa. Currently 33% of all urban residents are estimated to fall below the poverty level of their country. These regions are in the throes of what could be called, without exaggeration, a housing crisis resultant to rapid population growth and disproportionate urbanisation. Equally shocking is how little attention has been devoted to this problem.

This conference provides the perfect platform to explore the dynamics of low cost housing development, inclusionary housing policies, the various funding options available, greater private sector participation, construction materials & technology, design & sustainability, project management for the enablement of cross cutting collaboration between business and social entrepreneurs.
